We have them in so many different qualities, such a variety of colorings, patterns and sizes, and such a great run of prices, you will surely find a rug that will suit you at a price you can afford to pay.

Every rug in this line is the best possible quality that can be bought for that amount of money anywhere.

We don't have to tell you about their beauty—you can see that for yourself. As for wear, one million people recently walked across a Whittall Rug placed outside a store in Columbus, Ohio, in wet weather, too. After it had been vacuum cleaned, it was found to be still in fair condition.

A Rug that will stand a test like this, is the kind of a Rug you can afford to put into your home.

Eastern avenue householders have complained of the practice among small boys of starting grass fires this spring. Several times, it is reported, the fires have got beyond the control of the youngsters with the result that older people have found it necessary to intervene. The police are in possession of a number of similar complaints and they are not confined to Eastern avenue. It is suggested to parents that a little co-operation with the authorities in curbing this dangerous practice may mean that a serious fire loss will be averted somewhere.

For the first time since the middle days of December, 1915, regulars of the Barre fire department turned out early this morning in response to a general alarm. W. D. Murray, proprietor of the Eagle cafe, was coming out of his place of business shortly after midnight when he saw fire creeping up the exterior of the big tenement house just west of the Barre creamery on Granite street. Mr. Murray turned in an alarm from box 12 at the head of Seminary street and three pieces of apparatus were soon at the scene of the blaze. A pile of barrels, located under an outside staircase which scales the house on the east side, had become ignited and when the regulars, arriving first in the auto truck, unwound their chemical hose, the clapboards were burning briskly. The burning area was drenched with the chemical and then the fire was out. The damage is insignificant. The all-out sounded directly. Throughout the winter and early spring calls for assistance at the fire station, whether by telephone or by the alarm box, have been very few. The last general alarm prior to this morning were turned in Dec. 16 for fires at the Northern hotel and the Presbrey-Coykendall plant.
